

Eighth Grade Summer Information

Have a fun summer and remember to exercise your brain!

READING

We encourage you to read books you enjoy during the summer. Near the end of summer read To Kill a Mockingbird by Harper Lee. You should read this book carefully because you will test on it during the first week of school. You may want to write one or two sentences summarizing each chapter as you read, telling who narrated it and what happened. Then you can review your notes right before school starts. Attached is a summer reading list with suggestions for fun summer reads for students entering eighth grade.

MATH

This past year has been very productive and the students have learned a great deal. In order to maintain the new skills and concepts covered, practicing over the summer months is essential. We have researched and organized a list of fun and engaging websites that you may find engaging. Although we have given a short blurb for each website, you should visit each site to see what we think is important in order to maintain skill level over the summer.

People of all ages love to play games that are fun and motivating. Games give students opportunities to explore fundamental number concepts, such as counting sequences, one-to-one correspondence and computational strategies. Games that are mathematically challenging can also encourage students to explore place value, patterns, and other important mathematical concepts. They give the students the opportunity to deepen their mathematical reasoning and understanding. They can vary and be more or less challenging as the student needs them to be. This creates an atmosphere of less frustration and more confidence. You can find the list on the next page.

IN THE KNOW

ORIENTATION

Friday, August 23, 2019 11 a.m.-noon.
